

Allowing one company almost sole control over any thing is counterproductive. Not only does this company have about 70% control but at this point they could squash any competition. It's like haha we have this now and we will keep them all no other place can compete or even attempt to create a better service because they can't switch anyway. Hearing people have many more choices when it comes to "electronic communication" (not face to face) They not only have house phones and cell phones but they have a range of companies to choose from like at&t,sprint, pac bell,cingular, and this is just a few of hundreds available across the united states. but without some regs in place this could be a monopoly for this company. Communication is very important in the Deaf community I don't understand why We don't have the same options hearing people do.
